

The screenshot displays a web application with a complex layout. On the left, there is a vertical sidebar containing a list of items, each with a small colored square icon and a text label. The main area of the page is dominated by a large table with many columns and rows. The table headers are small and difficult to read, but the data rows are densely packed. To the right of the table, there is a vertical panel with several sections, each containing a heading and a list of items. The overall design is functional and data-oriented, typical of a management or reporting tool.
