

The diagram illustrates a 1000-bit data bus architecture. It is divided into three main sections: Data Bus, Control Bus, and Address Bus. Each section contains a long horizontal line with 1000 small rectangular blocks representing data elements. The Data Bus section is yellow, the Control Bus section is light blue, and the Address Bus section is light green. The diagram is color-coded and includes a legend at the bottom.